VILLA'S ARMY NOW IN FULL RETREAT

Recognition of Carranza As the Head of the Mexican Government Now in Order

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Sept. 23.—With the Villa army in full retreat into Sonora and the advance of at least three Constitutional armies begun, State department officials admitted today that the time of collapse of the convention party was at hand. Recognition of Carranza as the head of the de facto government of the entire republic is now merely a matter of routine discussion. It was revealed today that Carranza has decided to stand upon the terms of the protocol signed by the representatives of the United States, Argentina, Chile and Brazil at Niagara Falls in 1911.

SUNRISE BELL ON MOUNTAIN TOP

One of the most novel features of the new Summit House on Mount Washington in the White Mountains, which is to be known as the "Sunrise bell". The bell is rung every morning when the night watchman finds that there is to be a good sunrise, and it is guaranteed to arouse all sleepers. It will be rung just before the train goes down the mountain in the afternoon, to warn visitors that it is time to depart. The bell was taken from an old locomotive.

WILL CONSIDER PROFFERS OF ALLIES

Reported From Rome That King Ferdinand of Bulgaria Has Called Ministers Into Conference

(Special to The Herald)

London, Sept. 23.—While Berlin dispatches affirm that Germany is confident that Bulgaria will strike Serbia when the German troops begin their invasion of that country, reports coming today from correspondents in Rome that new proposals have been made to the Bulgarian government by the Entente powers. They add that King Ferdinand has called his ministers into conference to discuss the latest proffers of the allies.

UNITED STATES WINS ITS FIRST GREAT VICTORY

Millions of Dollars of Goods
From Russia Will Be Permitted to Come Here.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Sept. 23.—The United States has won its first great victory through diplomatic means. As a result of millions of dollars worth of Russian goods heretofore held there by terms of embargo but most of which already have been sold for by American buyers, will be permitted to come through to the United States at once and probably for the first time in the history of this country the government is made responsible for the ultimate destination of these goods and is pledged to see that they do not get into the hands of hostile countries. They will come here consigned to the factory of Commerce Redell and it will be that they are consumed within this country. The state department announced the signing of the formal agreement today.

AMERICANS IN DANGER IN ASIATIC TURKEY

Question Raised As to Owing to Their Efforts in Behalf of Armenians.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, September 23.—Hundreds of Americans, teachers and missionaries in Asiatic Turkey, today are in great danger of massacre. Their situation is rendered even more perilous by the fact that the half of the Armenians who are being slaughtered by Turks and Kurds under the plea of military necessity, Charles Crane of Chicago and James L. Barton of Boston, representing the great American Interdenominational Turkish Relief Committee, today told the state department that their information shows that at the first attempt to interfere in behalf of the Armenians, the Russian, American and British will feel the consequences of the Turkish Crime will destroy the situation which President Wilson.

Don't fail to see American Forum speaker, Frank B. Rowland, in that free and open discussion of the Armenian situation tonight at the Portsmouth Theatre.

TWENTY-EIGHT ENTRIES FOR ASTOR CUP

New York, Sept. 23.—Twenty-eight entries of which nine are foreign make have so far been received for the 350 mile Astor cup race in Sheephead Bay New York on October 2. The big feature of the entry list is that Harry H. Harkness, president of the speedway, is to re-enter the racing game as the pilot of one of the Delage cars.

Harkness was a noted amateur driver ten and twelve years ago. In 1905 Harkness broke the Boston to New York record and set up new figures for the ascent of Mt. Washington in the famous "Clunk to the Clouds."

The entries thus far are:

Ralph De Palma	Mercedes
Harney Oldfield	Delage
Harry H. Harkness	Delage
Earl Cooper	Stutz
Earl Anderson	Stutz
Driver not named	Stutz
Driver not named	Stutz
Dario Resta	Peugeot
Bob Burman	Peugeot
Ralph Milford	Peugeot
John Allen	Peugeot
Howard Wilcox	Peugeot
Bob Moore	Sunbeam
Eddie Pullen	Morser
Oliver Rockwell	Merced
Eddie Hickenbacker	Maxwell
Driver not named	Maxwell
Jean Porporato	P. R. P.
Driver not named	P. R. P.
Louis Chevrolet	Car not named
Eddie O'Connell	Duesenberg
Ete Henderson	Duesenberg
Driver not named	Duesenberg
Tom Vail	Mulford Special
Tom Alley	Ogren
Cra Hallie	Sebring
Grover Bergdoll	Erwin Special
Driver not named	Erwin Special

To be eligible to start in the race itself, each entry must show an average of at least 85 miles an hour in the two mile elimination contests to be staged September 24th and 25th. They will take their positions in the race in the order of their times, the maker of the fastest lap getting the pole on the first row. Experts believe that nearly all if not every car will qualify.

COACH WRAY DEPOSED

Boston, Sept. 23.—Coach Wray, head of the Harvard Rowing Association, has been dismissed from the staff and William H. Hines of the Union Boat Club chosen to his position.

WITH THE SPORTS

What is the limit of speed that a harness horse can show. Twenty years ago those who predicted that a two minute trotter was a certainty of the future and that pacers would travel well under that mark were considered a bit feeble minded. Yet today there are many two minute trotters and a number of trotters who have covered a mile in less than two minutes.

Directum 1, the whirlwind pacer set the harness world agog just a few days ago when he traveled a mile at Syracuse in 1:56 3-4 without a wind shield—a new world's record. Twenty years ago such a feat was considered absolutely impossible.

Each year brings newer and more wonderful performances in the trotting game and it wouldn't be surprising if there should be bred within the next generation some pacers and trotters that will negotiate a mile in 1:30. Impossible, you say? Well, that's what was said twenty years ago when the two minute trotter was predicted.

One of the ironies of the harness game is that the faster a horse becomes the more his earning power decreases. It seems odd that it should work out that way but it does.

In the running department of horse the speedier the horse, the more money he can make for his owners because in the running game a whirlwind can run in the same races with dub horses provided that he carries enough extra weight to supposedly overcome the advantage he has over the other entries.

The trotting game however brings about the reverse condition. The faster the horse becomes the fewer classes he can enter and if he speeds up to somewhere near the two minute mark there is nothing left for him but an occasional match against one or two of the other horses in his record smashing class.

The harness authorities place a premium on the "green" animals—and practically rule out of the turf a horse that is a record holder. The owner of a 2:15 or 2:20 can campaign him, and if he is successful win from $5,000 to $15,000 a year in purses. Yet horses like Directum 1, Peter Cole, Leo Aswerth, William and other winners, hardly earn their keep.

The wonderful Uhlan, owned by G. K. Billings is a striking example. As a "green" youngster "Uhlan" won many purses and enriched his owners. The older he got the speculifer he became—and the fewer the purses that he won. Soon he reached the point where he was the peer of all trotters in the world.

BILL CARRIGAN IS A FRIEND OF THE EXPERTS; HIS TEAM FULFILLING THEIR PREDICTIONS.

BILL CARRIGAN.

Boston, Sept. 23.—As a general rule, when a baseball "expert" makes a prophecy it is a good bet to wager against it because, in nine cases out of ten, something happens which upsets his predictions, and his selection is generally in the "also ran" class. Of course this is not the fault of the "expert." He does his best, and his best, when played against the vagaries of our great American pastime is a poor gambling proposition in most cases. However, he is not always wrong. Sometimes his selection comes up to expectations and vindicates his judgment.

vention have been extended to Presidents of all states, mayors of the principal cities within the busy continent Wilson, the vice president, commercial districts, and senators and representatives in Congress. The principal chambers of commerce, boards of trade and commercial and manufacturing organizations will be represented and the individual attendance will as usual, include men and women prominent in national affairs.

Hon. P. Hamilton Moore, member of Congress from Pennsylvania, is president of the association. The following are the vice presidents from New England: Maurice Rice, Maine; Oliver L. Frisbee, New Hampshire; Frederick H. Hubbert and Frank Fessenden Crane, Massachusetts; Fred L. Halliday, Jr., Rhode Island; and Robin Woodruff, Connecticut.

The object of the Atlantic Deep Waterways association is to construct an inter-coastal waterway from Maine to Florida. Now that submarines have become so great a factor in war this is a military and commercial necessity.

The convention is held alternately in the north and south. Next year the convention will be held in Boston, and the delegates will come to Southern New Hampshire to see Great Bay, the Piscataqua and the harbor, all of which are a part of the intercoastal waterway from Maine to Florida.

Cadum Ointment has a most soothing and healing effect wherever the skin is inflamed, irritated or diseased.

A list of its ingredients is printed upon every box. One ingredient is oil of cade, which is one of the best things known for Eczema. Another ingredient is zinc oxide, which dries up the water that forms upon sore places on the skin. Two other ingredients are petrolatum and white wax, which make a covering to protect these sore spots from the air and water. 10c and 25c a box.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK FOR CORNELL UNIVERSITY

New York, Sept. 23.—Barrett alone remains of Cornell's mighty backfield of 1914—but any team with a quarter back like Barrett seems to need no other backs.

Barrett is the greatest quarterback in the game today. Other teams have backfield stars many of them of extreme brilliancy. But their brilliancy fades in comparison with this almost super-human quarterback that captained the Red and White eleven this year.

The story of every game in which Cornell figured last year was an eulogy of Barrett. He seemed to be the Cornell team—and he was about two thirds of it. No line could stand up under his terrific eighty pound plunges; no ends were fleet enough to throw him before he had made substantial gains. As a field general he was a wizard. His trickeries time and again routed the enemy to the advantage of Cornell. And in practically every game that Cornell played it was Barrett's wonderful ability as a drop kicker that scored points for his team.

Barrett had some trouble over his studies but the difficulty will be adjusted before the football season opens.

Cornell's 1915 eleven, and especially its backfield, must be built around Barrett, but there is no better foundation than Barrett. Even if the team that Barrett will lead is of mediocre caliber, it ought to make a great showing because it has the brilliance of Barret, the dash of Barret and the spirit of Barret to enthrall it.

The Red and White eleven of last year was wrecked by graduations. Seventeen men who played on the 1914 Cornell team quit college in June. Six of them were regulars, and the worst part of the blow from the Cornell viewpoint is that three of these six regulars were the regular backfield men and five other of the seventeen were substitute backs.

Schuler, Gaffney, and Phillip, the backfield trio and O'Hara, chosen as the All American end in 1914 are gone. But the coaches are hopeful that from among those who are trying for positions now there will be found some men who will rank near the standard of the missing quartet.

Cool, the great 1913 center, is back and sure of his job. So are Shelton, end; Anderson, right guard; and Bailey, right tackle. All of these are veterans of the 1914 campaign.

McKeage, Snyder and Willey, substitutes in 1914 are the leading candidates for the vacant guard positions. Snyder seems to have the edge. Johnson, Jewett, Fischer and Allen are vying a merry little battle for the tackling job, with the coaches so far as a quindry as to which man to assign to the regular job.

There is a scarcity of good end material at Cornell and the coaches may try to develop one of the lightweight halfbacks to take O'Hara's place. However, Zeman, a substitute end last year, is showing up well and may land a regular berth at right end.

Shock is out for substitute quarterback. So is Collins. Both men played last year and both men are heavy enough because of the new style of football to play at the halfback position. Because of this the coaches may try to develop one or the other for a halfback.

The coaches so far haven't been able to get a line on the ability of the youths who have come up from last year's freshman class, but there are at least a half dozen youngsters who starred on the freshman team last year. If any of them show the same form in the practice during the next two weeks, it is a certainty that one or two of them may nose out the 1914 substitutes who are slated for regular jobs this year.

Nature's Own Wrapping Keeps Tobacco Best

Real tobacco flavor depends upon the leaf being preserved in its natural state, possible only by pressing the leaves into plug form and keeping it in by covering it with a natural leaf wrapper. The natural flavor and strength of tobacco escape when cut or granulated.

Take a Plug of Sickle that is even thoroughly dried out so that when you whittle it off it crumbles into dust, but it will burn and smoke smooth and cool as it has all of its original tobacco flavor preserved, unevaporated in Plug Form.

Whittling a pipeful is little trouble, amply repaid in both quality and quantity. Try this experiment and judge for yourself.

MILL IS IDEAL FOR MUNITION FACTORY

Mystery of Visit Yesterday Unsolved Last Night--Party Returned to Boston After Visit at Laconia Car Company Works.

At a late hour last night nothing definite could be learned of the reason for the visit of the mysterious party to the paper mill on Freeman's Point made yesterday morning. After leaving Portsmouth the special train which brought the seven men from Boston was taken to Laconia, via Dover. About 6.00 o'clock the train returned to Portsmouth, en-route to Boston, and made a short stop, but none of the party left the train.

Accompanying the train in their official capacities were Trainmaster A. P. Miliken and Traveling Passenger Agent McNamara of the Boston and Maine Railroad. From these two gentlemen it was learned that a Laconia all of the members of the party visited the shops of the Laconia Car Company works in that city where the manufacture of shells on a small scale is being carried on.

The members of the visiting party were as secretive while in Laconia as they had been here earlier in the day. When approached by strangers or newspapermen they either refused to talk at all or talked quietly together in French. Two of the men were undoubtedly of French nationality and it was observed that they seemed the most interested members of the men making the tour, both here and at Laconia.

All efforts to learn their identity failed. Mr. C. M. Bart of the Boston & Maine System insisted that he was entirely ignorant as to who they were and that the train had been chartered by the Equitable Trust Company of New York, the present owners of the Paper Mill.

The Paper Mill would undoubtedly make an ideal plant for the manufacture and storage of war munitions as it is fully located and the facilities for shipping, both by rail or water are unsurpassed. The plant is mammoth in size, all three of the manufacturing buildings are in fine repair and are well lighted. In building number one there is three stories, 642 feet by 92 feet, making a total floor space of 149,592 square feet, or 49,864 square feet on each floor.

Building number two is two stories, 250 by 99 feet, total floor space of 75,240 square feet.

Building number three is 210 by 182 feet, making 35,220 square feet. The total square feet of floor space in the three manufacturing buildings is 260,052 square feet.

All the buildings are in perfect repair and finely equipped, but what impression the plant may have made on the visitors remains unknown.

BULGARIAN ARMY TO ATTACK SERBIA.

(Special dispatch)

Berlin, Sept. 23.—With an army of half a million men already in the field, Bulgaria is ready to open its attack on Serbia. It is believed here from official announcements that Bulgaria will enter the war on the side of Germany and Austria within forty-eight hours.

Bulgaria's entrance into the war on the side of Germany will have a great bearing on the present Dardanelles campaign and will prove of great benefit to Turkey and Germany in their war in that theatre against the Anglo-French Allies.

RECORD SENTENCE FOR BICYCLE THIEF

The heaviest sentence which has been imposed in the Manchester police court in a long time was handed out to John A. Flynn, a young man who gave Laconia as his home yesterday morning. He was charged with having stolen a bicycle, pleaded guilty, and, evidently determined to put a stop to the wholesale thieving which has been going on in bicycles, the court imposed a fine of $50 and costs, and ordered the respondent to serve an alternate sentence in jail.

It appears that on September 8 Harry Parker of 40 Dubuque street, Manchester, rode over to the city proper on his bicycle and stopping on Chestnut street, opposite the postoffice, visited one of the business places near by, leaving his wheel leaning against the curb. On returning to the street his wheel was missing. He reported his loss to police headquarters, and later identified the wheel in the possession of Henry Vaillancourt of 41 Lake avenue, who, investigation disclosed, had purchased it from a stranger for $3. Vaillancourt was now out of both bicycle and money, and he resolved to keep a sharp lookout for the man who had shifted the burden of a stolen bicycle upon him.

Tuesday night his efforts were rewarded by catching sight of Flynn upon the street, and he reported this fact to Patrolman Whalen, who took Flynn into custody. The sequel was in police court Wednesday morning when Flynn was given the stiff sentence of $50 and costs.

Deputy Chief East, addressed the court in regard to Flynn, saying that he was "a new one" in local police circles and that little or nothing was known of his antecedents. He believed that he should be made an example of, however, with the hope that it might make an impression upon bicycle thieves and serve to put an end or at least repress the larceny of these vehicles.

The prisoner was given an opportunity to address the court in his own behalf, but contented himself with saying that his home was in Laconia. He was well, although not fluently dressed, and presented a good appearance.

ORGANIZATION FOR BETTER RURAL CREDITS

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—Initial steps toward organizing a national association to bring about rural credits for farmers of the United States were taken at a mass meeting at the Panama-Pacific Exposition which was attended by many delegates of the International Irrigation Congress and the National Drainage Congress. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, former ambassador to France, who was suggested as the head of the proposed association, was the principal speaker at the meeting. He talked of rural credits from the viewpoint of a banker.

The grand purpose of the rural credit movement, he said, had been overlooked by those who expected of it only lower interest rates. Cheaper money, he declared, is not its only aim; it rises higher than that and proposes to enable home-seekers to accomplish their wish, landowners to procure adequate funds to develop their holdings, and farmers to mobilize their resources so that American agriculture may become modernized and properly financed and keep pace with progress in every other industry. State aid, he believed to be undesirable in the United States if private enterprise could be efficiently regulated and rural cooperation intelligently practised.

"The cause of much of the misunderstanding about cooperative banking and credit," said he, "is the mistaken notion that cooperation is an altruistic or benevolent means of helping the down-and-out class of persons who are individually weak and incompetent. This half-truth is alive with dangers. Cooperation can never help anybody except him who is able and willing to help himself—and his neighbor also."

STATES REGULATE TRAFFIC IN GAME.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—Three important changes have radically affected traffic in game in the Mississippi Valley during the present year, according to Farmers' Bulletin 692. In February the Supreme Court of Arkansas held that a local law permitting shipment of game from the Chickasaw district of Mississippi County, Ark., was unconstitutional, and that the general law prohibiting shipment of game was in effect in this county as well as in other parts of the state. A little later the Legislature of Tennessee prohibited the sale of all protected game taken within the state, thereby cutting off the market for ducks killed on Roanoke Lake. Finally, in June, a new game law was passed in Illinois prohibiting sale of all game, native or imported, except rabbits. For 20 years or more Illinois law permitted the sale at certain seasons of game imported from other states. Illinois now not only prohibits the sale but also the export of all protected game except rabbits. Missouri has strengthened its export law by a provision prohibiting export of quail for any purpose.

Bag Limits. A bag-limit law was passed for the first time in Arkansas applicable to deer, bear, turkey, quail and ducks. Limits were established in Connecticut on squirrels and waterfowl; in New Hampshire on quail, ruffed grouse, and woodcock; and in Pennsylvania on bear, Indians, which opened the season on prairie chickens for the first time in several years, provided a limit of five birds per day.

Reductions in limits were made on deer in Alaska from 5 to 3, in Montana from 3 to 2, and in Michigan and Nevada from 2 to 1. In the case of birds the more important reductions in daily bag limits were made in Illinois on doves from 15 to 10; in Iowa on quail from 25 to 15, and on prairie chickens from 25 to 5; in Minnesota on all birds except ducks, from 15 to 10; in Oklahoma on quail, plover, snipe, and ducks, from 25 to 10. Only a few increases were provided: in Illinois on shore birds, in Missouri on birds (except turkeys) from 10 to 15, and in Nevada on quail from 15 to 20.

Resident licenses were provided for the first time in three southern states—Arkansas, South Carolina, and Tennessee. Arkansas established a $1 license for deer and a $1 license for dogs used in hunting quail; South Carolina a license of $1 for hunting in the county and $3 in the state, but 27 counties were exempt from the operation of the act; and Tennessee a $1 license for the county and $2 for the state. New Mexico and Vermont joined the list of states which now issue combined hunting and fishing licenses. Delaware, following the example of West Virginia in 1913, repealed the resident license provision adopted two years ago, while West Virginia restored the license by issuing free licenses to persons hunting in the county of residence and requiring a fee of $3 to hunt elsewhere in the state. Fees for non-resident licenses were reduced in Illinois from $15 to $10, in Maine from $25 to $15, and for the special elk resident license in Wyoming from $15 to $10. New Hampshire and South Carolina, on the other hand, increased the non-resident fee in each case from $10 to $15, and Manitoba the resident big game license from $2 to $1. Exemptions were provided in a few cases—namely in Illinois, which allows veterans of the Civil War to hunt without a license, and in Oregon, which issues free licenses to veterans. In the latter state women are now allowed to hunt and fish without license, but in New Mexico similar privileges are not extended. North Dakota allowed actual settlers to obtain a resident license, even though they have not acquired residence. In Michigan and Minnesota all residents are now required to obtain licenses to hunt in the county of residence. In North Dakota and Vermont conviction of violating the game laws not only results in forfeiture of license but renders the holder ineligible to obtain another for a year, except in Vermont, without the consent of the game commissioner.

FOUND NOTHING AT ROUNDTREE'S

Four old William Roundtree of Newburyport, formerly of this city, continues to be annoyed by the Newburyport police officers. At his residence yesterday forenoon Marshal McLean, Assistant Marshal Murphy and officers Adams and Hayes paid the honorable William a friendly call. William was at home all right and as he has a six months sentence and a fine of $100.00 hanging over his head awaiting the next term of the Superior Court, was very pleasant to the officers.

Marshal McLean read a warrant he had with him, entitling the officers to the right of search. Bill listened while the warrant was read and told the officers to go as far as they liked. A thorough search of the premises was made, every part of the house and barn visited, but the liquor that the officers were looking for was among the missing.

Bill and his family live at 13 Pike street, Newburyport, and since they left this city they have been engaged to a considerable extent in the illegal sale of liquor. At a raid made some time ago by the officers a large quantity of the amber fluid was found and in the police court William and several members of the family were found guilty of keeping liquor for sale and of selling it contrary to the city ordinances.

The officers feel confident that they have the goods on Bill and are certain that he will have to serve his time. Bill isn't quite so certain that they are right, but from the fact that nothing damaging in the way of evidence was found yesterday it looks as though he was playing safe until this case is settled.

Small Tires Made Bigger

Goodyears Enlarged 20 Per Cent

Nearly half the cars running use small-size tires—sized 30x3 1/2 and 30x3. So this year we are offering some special extras to the million small-tire users.

We have added size, so the air capacity is increased 20 per cent. That means much added mileage.

We have added 30 per cent to the rubber in the side walls. That's where constant flexing breaks a thin-walled tire—just above the bead.

We have added endurance in a newly-found way by changing the tire's design.

Cost $317,000

These three new extras on this year's small-tire output will cost us $317,000. And this in the face of a big price reduction.

They are giving to Goodyears a vastly greater capacity than any other tires in these sizes.

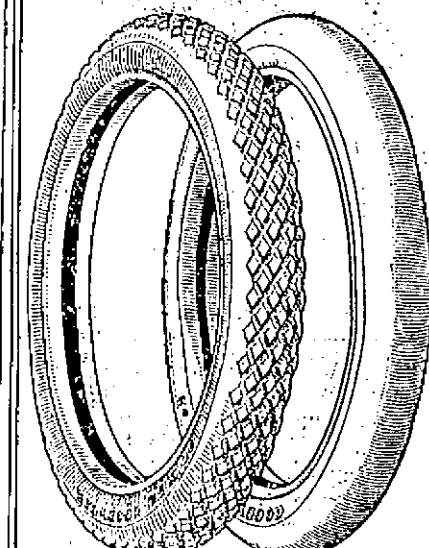

Remember that Goodyears have for years held top place in Treadm. By their super-quality they have won more users than any other tire that's built.

Even the 30x3 size is a four-ply tire in Goodyears. And our All-Weather tread on every size is made double-thick.

Now we add in this big way to the capacity. And we combat the risk of side-wall breaks by 30 per cent more rubber.

Don't take smaller tires or lighter, or tires with thinner treads.

And don't in any size accept a three-ply tire. Until others give what we give, get the Goodyear tire.

The People's Favorite Paper.

The Portsmouth Herald today enters upon its 31st year of publication. This paper was started in 1884, during the Blaine and Logan campaign as a Republican daily, the need of a newspaper of that faith being keenly felt at that time. The paper although under several different managements, has always been a staunch advocate of the principles of the Republican party and is still an adherent of that faith. Since the paper came into the hands of the present management it has been the aim of the publisher to give the people of Portsmouth a live and progressive newspaper and we feel that our efforts have not been in vain. The Herald has enjoyed the reputation of covering the local news in a manner not equaled by any of its so-called contemporaries. It is the only paper in the city that has a press service, receiving all of the important happenings of the day from the International News Service, one of the foremost news gathering agencies in the world. The Herald is the favorite paper of the people of Portsmouth and the surrounding towns and it will be the endeavor of the publisher to make the paper better than ever during the coming year.

Criticism and Knocking.

In an address before the chamber of commerce of a flourishing eastern city a few days ago the speaker devoted considerable attention to those who are commonly known as knockers, men who criticize matters and things in the communities in which they live in an unreasonable and purely fault-finding manner. He spoke of residents of cities that have chambers of commerce, as most live cities do, under one name or another, who criticize those bodies because of their failure to make every business man rich as quickly as he would like to become so. This is a practice that is too prevalent and one that is properly to be frowned upon by all right-thinking men.

The speaker pointed out that these chambers of commerce are working constantly for the upbuilding of the communities in which they exist, but that it is unreasonable to expect that for modest membership fees the business of every member is to be made immediately and immensely profitable. Successful efforts to build up and increase the business of a city must be co-operative, and the helpers are those who put their shoulders to the wheel instead of standing on the sidelines and finding fault.

While this is all true, it is equally true that not every man who ventures to criticize should be called a "knocker." Criticism has its uses when it is genuine, and not mere fault-finding. The best-intentioned men make mistakes and are able to profit by criticism when it comes in the right form.

The lesson is not that there should never be criticism, but that criticism should be constructive and not destructive. When a man attempts to point out what is wrong in his community or in the chamber of commerce which represents its business interests, he should show why it is wrong and suggest a remedy. But knocking the knocker is so popular just now that even a sincere critic is liable to be classified as a member of the undesirable fraternity known as knockers, and this brand of criticism is just as mischievous as that of which the knockers are guilty.

It is time to distinguish between honest criticism and knocking. One has its uses, the other is both contemptible and injurious. None of us has any use for the reckless "knocker," but the sincere critic is entitled to a hearing at all times, and neither members of boards of trade nor others can afford to deny this. Through criticism of the right sort improved conditions are very apt to come.

As a result of complaints of the appearance of handcuffed prisoners in the streets and on cars and railroad trains while on their way from the courts to the prisons and jails, the sheriff of New York county is planning to have constructed a "Black Maria" automobile for the transportation of the convicts, so as to protect the nerves and sensibilities of the public. The machine is to have a speed of sixty miles an hour, which, coupled with its appearance, should insure for it the right of way on all occasions.

Judging by the heavy vote polled by the Republican candidates in the recent primary many of the erstwhile Progressives have returned to their first love. This fact, together with the dissensions among the Democratic factions, should augur well for the election of McCall as governor and the success of the Republican ticket in general.

A New York man has invented a garb for airmen which converts itself into a parachute in case of necessity, but thus far no one has offered to give it a voluntary trial. It will be interesting to know how it works out in case it ever is tried.

CURRENT OPINION

Influence of Environment More Potent Than That of Heredity.

You can shake your fist at your ancestral skeleton in the closet, no matter if he's drunkard, thief or murderer. You haven't inherited his crime nor the obligation to follow in his footsteps. Heredity is a factor in our lives, but I believe that environment and personal determination count for a great deal more.

It isn't what a child inherits from his parents; it's the example they set him, the surroundings they give him, the methods they use in training him, that determine his criminality or the reverse.

Parents are subjecting a child to unnecessary moral risks when they fail to give him a sound, strong body and to inspire him with a fondness for work. As for the value of work—well, you know who is famed for supplying life hands with mischief.

Babies are born good. Whether they have had parents or good ones, they come into the world ready to start right. They don't bring along a lot of inherited criminality. They won't develop it, whatever their ancestry, if they have the right training.—Dr. J. Gardner Smith, Expert in Eugenics.

BULGARIA'S ACTIVITY CAUSES STIR THROUGHOUT EUROPE

London, Sept. 23.—M. Radetskyoff the Bulgarian premier has announced to his supporters the signing of a convention with Turkey for the future maintenance of armed neutrality on the part of Bulgaria, says the Times correspondent at Sofia, in a dispatch printed this morning.

Bulgaria's activity in mobilizing her forces has caused a stir not only among the Balkan states, but in the European capitals, whether Bulgaria is to join either of the belligerents or intends to maintain an armed neutrality is not definitely known. The Bulgarian premier, however, recently told the government of members of parliament that the war danger in the Balkans had decreased, but that the Bulgarian government had been obliged to resort to armed neutrality.

The premier is also quoted as having told his supporters that Rumania and Greece would remain neutral, and that he did not believe a treaty between Rumania, Greece and Serbia against Bulgaria could be made.

Bulgarian revolutionists have hastened to the rescue, one of the reserve officers being authorized for the statement that the general mobilization included 250,000 infantry. Bulgaria's field army of all ranks numbers between 200,000 and 250,000 men.

Berlin news-collector reports state that there are no indications that Bulgaria's action will lead to a general outbreak in the Balkans and that no news has been received in the German capital of a mobilization of either Greece or Rumania. Nevertheless, King Constantine has been in conference with Premier Venizelos and the general staff of the Greek army, and a cabinet council has had the situation under consideration.

Understand in effect with respect to the attitude of Germany which, because of the geographical position of that country will probably remain quiet until Bulgaria's final decision is taken.

One of the members of the war is to be found in a visit of a squadron of French aeroplanes, which in retaliation for attacks by the Germans with aircraft on even French of France and England, has taken from the center to England, capital of the Kingdom of Wendenburg, a number of more than one hundred miles and dropped shells in the neighborhood of the royal palace and the station. The damage is not recorded.

Germany will in future continue all along the line from Belgium to the coast.

On the eastern front in the region of Belgium, the Germans have again assumed the offensive and a battle is in progress. The Germans have captured a position on the left bank of the Meuse, according to their reports, over a front of two miles.

French reports indicate that the Hun army which extended Vélizy has been withdrawn from the danger zone.

The efforts of the Allied armies, however, to repulse the retreating army, are still in progress.

In Vélizy, by the action of the French army, the Hun army has been driven back to the Meuse river.

POLICE COURT.

William O. Winn was before Judge Capill in the municipal court today on a charge of violating the street traffic rules. He was ordered into court by Officer West after an argument on Wednesday morning. After the reading of the writ he pleaded guilty and then requested that he be allowed time to engage counsel. This statement was something new to the court and Judge Capill asked the respondent if he realized where he was at, and why he wanted a lawyer after admitting he was guilty as charged. Winn still insisted that he wanted a lawyer, and the court finally allowed him to change his plea to not guilty and appear again on Friday with counsel for further hearing.

James Barry and George Murphy, both strangers to the local police were ordered to leave 30 days each at the county farm on a charge of drunkenness.

CLOSES FOR THE SEASON

The Aldrich Home on Court street closed for the season on Friday afternoon. During the summer the "home" of the Red Cross has been visited by 250 persons, which is considered remarkably considering weather conditions. More patients and beds of "The Story of the Red Cross" have been sold this year than any previous season. Among the recent visitors were Mrs. Alice Condit of Cambridge, and Mrs. W. H. Moore of Fitch's Crossing. The home has been in charge of James Harmon, and he has had able assistance in Miss Mary Kelly and Miss Alice Griffin. Mr. Harmon will leave for his home on Friday evening, but will return later to open the home while the photo play is being mounted.

HARMON BRAND OF SAUSAGE

On Thursday, Sept. 23, I shall place my well known brand of sausage on the market. They can be had on that date at all first class grocery and meat stores in Portsmouth. ## I PROMISE TO PAY

These four words are the crux of every financial obligation. With the right name written below them they are as good as gold. "I promise to pay" is the measure of every successful advertisement. Advertising promises to pay the reader in more desirable goods, in lowered prices, in needed information or services. Men who can't afford to advertise are men who can't succeed. It pays to read the advertisement in a live newspaper like this one and to patronize the advertisers.

DEATH REDUCES PENSION TOLL.

Millions Saved by Government When Civil War Veterans Answer Call.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Death decreased the government's Civil war pension roll nearly ten per cent during the last fiscal year, according to the annual report of Commissioner Patterson, made public today. A total of 399,370 Union veterans remained on the roll July 1, 38,255 less than a year ago. Payments to Civil war pensioners during the year totaled $159,668,771, compared with $172,117,516 in 1914.

Available records of the pension office show the death toll since the close of the war has been 1,315,295. In that period the federal government has paid to veterans, their widows and children $1,161,512,297.

COST ANALYSIS OF B. & M. CAMPAIGN

Concord, Sept. 22.—Analysis of payments to attorneys and the expenditure of money by Boston & Maine lawyers occupied most of the time this morning in the public service commission investigation of corporation expenditures to influence legislation in New Hampshire. The campaign in opposition to the extension of the Grand Trunk lines across New Hampshire was particularly emphasized.

General Solicitor Edgar J. Rich of the Boston & Maine denied that money was at any time paid to newspapers for their support of the Boston & Maine cause. Advertising he said, was as freely given to newspapers opposed to the Boston & Maine as to those which favored it. It was shown that efforts were made to enlist boards of trade on the side of the Boston & Maine, and these bodies were also urged to adopt resolutions in support of former President Mellen, at the time when he was most severely criticized in Massachusetts.

Leslie P. Snow, a Boston & Maine attorney in Rochester, was shown to have interviewed Randall H. Spaulding, now governor, but Mr. Spaulding, despite the efforts of Mr. Snow later became one of the incorporators of the Southern New England railroad, organized to build the proposed Grand Trunk extension.

QUESTION OF DAMAGE LEFT TO EXPERTS

Germany in New Note Deals With Sinking of the William F. Frye.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Sept. 23.—Germany today agreed that the interpretation of the Russian treaty of 1923 shall be referred to the League tribunal for interpretation. In a new note dealing with the case of the American bark William F. Frye sunk by the German commerce destroyer Emden, Germany says that there will be no need of naming any umpire. The question of agreeing on the amount of damage is to be left to experts, one to be appointed by each nation. Germany selects as her expert, Dr. Kepap of the North German Lloyd Steamship company. In the new note made public today, Germany states that she does not admit any violation of the treaty but is willing that its provisions should be interpreted by the League. In the meantime, however, Germany says that it cannot agree that it must stop proceedings against American ships during the pendency of the proceedings before the tribunal. Germany further says that she will not destroy any American merchantmen carrying conditional contraband in the future, but will destroy any vessels falling into German hands which carry absolute contraband as named in the declaration of London.

Owing to the rush of work at present the industrial department will not be able to consider the request and will pass it up. The Portsmouth yard has previously provided the lowest bid for work on this same boat and received a surprise when the department awarded the same to an outside firm.

One upholsterer, four electricians' helpers, and six machinists' helpers were called for work today.

Assistant to General Manager.

Leut. D. A. McElhinny, recently transferred from the U. S. S. Paducah to the yard, has been assigned as assistant to General Manager L. S. Adams of the Industrial Department and will relieve Leut. James Parker, Jr., who will leave the yard within a month for other duties.

New Landing Place.

By permission of the commandant 125 yard workmen from New Castle have been granted a permit to land at and leave from a landing near the naval prison, instead of the regular landing at the main gate. By this arrangement they will save much time and a trip of nearly a half-mile up the river.

NEW ASSISTANT FOR DOVER POLICE FORCE

Arthur P. Chesley Succeeds Deputy Chief Flanagan.

At a meeting of the Dover police commissioners held on Tuesday evening the resignation of Deputy Chief Owen Flanagan was read and accepted. His successor was then elected. Former Petrolman Arthur P. Chesley received the unanimous vote of the board for assistant marshal, the name of deputy chief being dropped.

Lewis W. Bersten, William J. Hartford and Frank Gannan were appointed special police officers. It was voted that the next meeting of the commission should be held on the 1st of the month, when it is understood that Chief of Police Clark will also vacate his office and hand over the management of the police force to City Marshal Elmer Williamson.

Deputy Chief Flanagan was appointed two years ago by the Democratic police commission, when it reorganized the Dover police force. The new assistant marshal at the time of his retirement two years ago from the police force, was day officer on the north side of the river.

MRS. PARKS AWARDED VERDICT OF $585.17

Claims She Was Injured by a Ring on Finger of Mrs. Clark Who Struck Her on Wrist.

Mrs. Eliza A. Parks of this city was awarded the sum of $585.17 by the jury in the supreme court at Alfred, Me., on Wednesday as verdict against Mrs. Mary P. Clark of Boston. It was the first case to be tried at the September session and grew out of some trouble at the summer home of Mrs. Clark at York Harbor, and Mrs. Parks charged trespass to the person. In the trouble, Mrs. Parks who was employed by Mrs. Clark as a cook, claims that Mrs. Clark struck her on the left wrist and that the ring that she wore at the time cut and injured her badly.

Five witnesses testified for the plaintiff while the deposition of Mrs. Clark was read by the defense, who did not deny the assault but objected to paying the sum Mrs. Parks demanded.

The argument was made by John C. Stewart for the plaintiff and Ralph W. Hawkes for the defendant.

Judge Sawyer heard the case and the jury was out about two hours.

"THE SPENDTHRIFT."

Don't Fail to See This Great Picture at the Portsmouth Theatre Friday and Saturday.

"The Spendthrift" an extraordinary film dramatization of Porter Emerson Brown's celebrated play by the same name in six parts, produced by George Kleine and featuring Irene Fenwick, will be shown at the Portsmouth Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 24 and 25. The same popular prices will prevail. Only five cents for any seat in the house in the afternoon, and five and ten cents in the evening. This show cannot be equalled anywhere for the price.

The cast:

Frances Ward ..... Irene Fenwick
Richard Ward ..... Cyril Keightley
Monty Ward ..... Malcolm Duncan
Phil Cartwright ..... John Nicholson
Gretchen Jans ..... Matty Ferguson
Charles Van Zandt ..... Grace Leigh
Show Girl ..... J. C. Hackett

Who has reared the perfect child? Who has successfully combated the deadly shaping factors of heredity and environment with a theoretical code of child-righting warranted never to fail?

Mrs. Gretchen Jans, mistress of millions, failed. Her two pretty nieces, Frances and Charles were taught to sew and mend, economize and stretch not alone in clothes and money but in thought and emotion as well. "Plug up the fountain of youth" with the harsh Puritan code of Gretchen Jans, and Frances paid the penalty with her heart aches.

Hence, when Richard Ward fell in love with Frances and Mrs. Jans refused the parental blessing, the young couple did what most young couples do—set off post haste for the nearest parsonage. And then into the life of Frances came the great change.

A comfortable allowance didn't reach. Money ran like rays of sunshine in a golden stream through the fingers of both hands. Richard couldn't keep up the gait. Bills payable increased with a monotonous regularity only equalled by the decrease of his bills receivable. Credit weakened, the specter of poverty grinned through the office door and the riotous waste of the girl who had been denied, continued unabated.

And then came the second man with his offer of money and the trail of suffering and self-abasement that followed in its wake. It seemed all very innocent to Frances but it was tragedy to Richard.

Go and see "The Spendthrift." Through six enchanting reels you will watch the lesson hammered home with a truth and a force and a pleasant sense of reality possible only to the screen.

LGAR ARMIES ARE READY FOR WAR

Roads Taken Over by the Military and Ordinary Traffic is Suspended.

on, Sept. 22.—There is every indication that Bulgaria is about to enter war. A general mobilization is in progress and the military has taken over the roads and closed them to ordinary traffic. There has been no official statement as to which group of nations she will support, but it is generally believed that she will ally herself with the Entente. Whether she is acting with the Entente or with the Central Powers, that is a matter which she has not yet decided. It is believed that she has been secretly negotiating with the Central Powers, and that she has now decided to join them. She has been very active in the Balkans, and has been helping the Central Powers in their operations. and certain of good results." Report Gain in North Petrograd, Sept. 22.—The following Russian official statement was given out last night: "In the region northwest of Dvinsk near the village of Munezo, we drove the Germans from their trenches by a vigorous attack."

"Southwest and south of Dvinsk fighting continues on the front of Novo-Alexandrovsk and Lake Drisvate. The German heavy artillery bombarded certain sections of this front, frequent discharging poisonous gas shells. "East of Vilna the fighting continues. On the front Binkony-Lida and in the district of the Holova river, east of the Casara River, there were insignificant actions. On the front Terebo-Podhalie, east of Lutsk, the enemy began an attack but was repulsed. We made repeated bayonet attacks and captured 700 prisoners and three machine guns."

"During attacks against the villages of Herezowia and Bostold, northwest of Wyznawet, the enemy, notwithstanding our violent machine gun and artillery fire, reached our trenches and pushed upon us without shouts and hurrahs. A hot bayonet fight ensued and resulted in the expulsion of the enemy who suffered great losses. We then counter-attacked and taking the enemy on the flank, overthrew him and pressing closely on his heels, reached and entered his trenches. Unable to withstand our impetuous dash, part of the Austrians fled and the remainder surrendered or were bayoneted. We took ten officers and six hundred men prisoners."

"Another fifty prisoners and a quantity of cartridges and engineering appliances were captured when we took a redoubt near the village of Stone southwest of Threst."

"After a skirmish on the river Dzhart southwest of Czornow, we drove the enemy back across the river and took prisoners five officers and two hundred men."

War of Artillery Alone. Paris, Sept. 22.—General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief and the allied commanders on this front—Field Marshal Sir John French and King Albert of Belgium—are developing a new plan of campaign that involves the almost continuous use of artillery on a vast scale along the whole line.

Masses of artillery have been employed by both sides since the beginning of operations in preparing for infantry attacks, pounding their adversaries' works for an hour or two, then suddenly suspending fire and assaulting with infantry. The Allies are now methodically maintaining their shell fire for days at a time without infantry attacks, dropping projectiles upon the charred front into every 50-yard square, and repeating the process, a deadly, automatic, unceasing pounding. The heavy caliber guns send their storms of shells upon encampments of first reserves behind the lines and upon bridges and pro-

SEVEN BODIES TAKEN FROM SUBWAY WRECK

(Special dispatch) New York, Sept. 23.—At midnight, crews of men were still working to recover bodies from the ruins of the Seventh Avenue subway in this city caused by a dynamite explosion at 9:45 a. m. yesterday morning, when the subway caved in for a distance of a block and a half. Seven bodies are already recovered and it is now thought that there may be more dead. Four investigations will be started this morning and the police are searching for a blast, named August Midnight, an Italian or an Austrian, who will be charged with manslaughter. It has been learned that Midnight was in a great measure responsible for the setting off of the blast.

MRS. COWLES IS EXPECTED TODAY IN PORTSMOUTH

WILL TAKE UP HER RESIDENCE HERE DURING THE SIX MONTHS THE CHILDREN ARE IN THE CITY

It was learned last night from an authoritative source that Mrs. Florence J. Cowles of Brookline, Mass., who was granted a divorce from her husband, Dr. Edward S. Cowles of this city, by Chief Justice Pike of the Superior Court in this city on Sept. 1, will probably arrive in Portsmouth some time today. Mrs. Cowles will make her home at the Shalimar Inn in order to be near her two little daughters, Mary Hayward and Harriet Virginia, while they are staying here in charge of their father, Dr. Cowles. The two little children were brought to Portsmouth on Monday by the doctor for their six months stay with him as stipulated by the court when the divorce was granted. The court ruled that the children were under the joint guardianship of both parents and that they should spend six months of the year alternately with each parent. During the time they are in Dr. Cowles' custody they must not be removed from New Hampshire as a place of residence. While in Mrs. Cowles' charge their residence must be in Massachusetts. The court further ruled that the parent not having the custody of the children should be allowed to see them as often as he or she desired and that they might have the care of them for one day a week.

Mrs. Cowles was not aware that the children were being brought direct to Portsmouth on Monday as it was stated in Boston that the doctor had intended taking them to the White Mountain region for a time. Before coming here they had both been confined in a hospital in Boston with a slight attack of scarlet fever.

ALQUIST NOT KNOWN AT DARTMOUTH (Special dispatch) Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 23.—A surprise was sprung today when Dr. H. L. Williams, head of the athletic department of the University of Minnesota, dismissed Alquist, the star end of the foot ball squad from the team. Dr. Williams stated that his action was due to the fact that Alquist had been in communication with Dartmouth and that he had been offered money by the Dartmouth Athletic Association to go to the New Hampshire college for his services on the grid iron.

Boston, Sept. 23.—When Coach Cavanagh of Dartmouth was communicated with and asked about the charges made by Dr. Williams regarding money offered by Dartmouth for Quist's services on the foot ball field, Cavannah stated that the entire story was false and that he, personally, had never heard of Quist.

Is Only One of Nature's Warnings of Weak or Disordered Kidneys.

Have you a lame back, aching day and night? Do you feel sharp pains after sleeping? Are the kidneys sore? Is their action irregular? Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the medicine recommended by so many Portsmouth people. Read this case:

Clinton H. Hurd, 138 Hill St., Portsmouth, says: "For six months I was annoyed off and on by my kidneys. I had such sharp pains in my back that I couldn't do anything. I also felt tired and sore and suffered from rheumatic pains. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Phillips' Drug Store relieved the soreness in my back and corrected the other difficulties."

A PERMANENT CURE. More than five years later, Mr. Hurd said: "Continued use of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and the cure has been permanent."

THE OCTOBER AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

In the October American Magazine Olive Higgins Prouty begins a new serial novel entitled "The Fifth Wheel." It is the story of the revolt of Ruth Vars, a New England girl of good family, who tired of the conventional prospect before the ordinary woman and decided to break loose and live her own life. This is the story of her personal and business adventures.

Norman Strong, writing under the title "Growing Old at Fifty" tells how he made himself over physically and mentally when he had reached the late forties. He was old at forty-six, with death just around the corner. At fifty he is ten years younger, well, strong and more youthful, simply by following a few simple rules.

Stanley Johnson gives the second installment of his series, "Youth Leads the Way," in which he tells of the tremendous work done by boys and girls under the direction of the Department of Agriculture. Jerome Travers, present open and four times amateur golf champion of the United States, tells many stories of great golf plays and players under the title of "Heroes of Wood and Iron."

More fiction is contributed by John Talmor Pate, Ruth Sapinsky, Philby Curtis, Edgar L. Hampton and Alice Wood. James Montgomery Flagg does an amusing piece in words and pictures entitled "A Barely Civil Engineer." John M. Siddall contributes an editorial entitled "How the World Ends and Begins." Ray Stannard Baker tells why he is in favor of Woman Suffrage. The regular departments—Interesting People and The Family's Money—are filled with good reading and good ideas. The prize winning letters in the contest entitled "The Jew" complete a number of rare interest and freshness.

SEVEN KILLED AND FIFTY SERIOUSLY INJURED

New York, Sept. 22.—Eight persons are known to have been killed and more than fifty injured today when an explosion of dynamite caused the collapse of a block and a half on Seventh avenue into the new subway being constructed fifty feet beneath the surface of that thoroughfare. The foregoing figures of casualties are based on an official statement given by the police at 5.45 p. m. an hour and forty minutes after the street fell into the excavation. The section of Seventh avenue that fell into the subway was the block between West 24th and West 25th streets. The first report of the disaster reaching police headquarters said that three cars had fallen into the excavation. Eye witnesses of the disaster said they saw only two cars disappear and the police who entered the excavation after the disaster said that they could see only one car but that it was possible another was buried beneath tons of debris.

Six persons were crushed to death when a street car plunged fifty feet into the new subway and two others died of their injuries after being removed from the ruins of the car which was torn to pieces. At least fifty persons were injured and are now in various hospitals. Several are in a dying condition. The identified dead are Louis Krugman, aged 22, a garment worker; James Dumuch, Tony De-rough. Four investigations of the accident are now under way. They are being conducted by Mayor Mitchell, the grand jury, Coroner Feinburg and the Public Service Commission. The generally accepted theory of the cause of the accident was that an explosion of dynamite blew away pillars supporting the street surface. Fire Commissioner Adamson ordered that a search be made for Frank Midnight who has charge of the blasting in the new subway. Midnight disappeared after the accident. Coroner Feinburg said he believed faulty construction work rather than an explosion caused the collapse. Firemen found several sticks of dynamite and are keeping them as evidence.

SUBMITTED TORPEDO TO SECRETARY DANIELS

Radio-Controlled Missile Discussed by Inventor Hammond in Washington Yesterday.

Washington, Sept. 22.—John Hays Hammond, Jr., inventor of the wireless controlled boat, submitted to Secretary Daniels yesterday, a modification of his invention which he thinks may be applied to torpedoes when discharged from submarines. Although Mr. Hammond was reticent about the details of his invention, it is understood that it is a modified application of the same principles utilized in the development of his radio controlled boat. This device has already been demonstrated to the satisfaction of experts of the War Department, who have recommended to Congress that it be purchased for use in coast defense operations.

After talking with Secretary Daniels Mr. Hammond conferred with Rear Admiral Strauss, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance. It is said that he will have further conferences with officers of the Navy Department and that his plan will be investigated and carefully considered. It was declared that Mr. Hammond has not reached the point where he is prepared to give full demonstrations of his new invention. Mr. Hammond called attention in discussing his invention, to the fact that torpedoes as now used cannot be controlled in their movements after leaving the torpedo tube. The apparatus for automatic control of torpedoes is not altogether satisfactory or reliable.

This he believes is one of the reasons the German submarine operations have not been more successful and that many of their torpedoes have missed their mark. It is definitely known to officers of the navy that the Germans are using a very short range torpedo and hence must get close to their target before firing. Mr. Hammond believes that his device would permit the use of much longer range torpedoes which could be controlled to the moment of hitting the target.

BRITISH SOLDIERS NEAR DEATH FROM THIRST

Calcutta, Sept. 23.—One of the trials which the British are experiencing in the Persian Gulf expedition are described in a letter from an officer published here. He says:

"The temperature is 123 in the shade and it has even gone up to 125. It was a most sultry day when I arrived at —, and we all knew that a storm was brewing. At about 5.30 p. m. we saw a dense black cloud right along the horizon to the south. "When the storm actually burst it was a perfect pandemonium, the tents were blown down as easily as you would kick a stone over. It was impossible to face the blast of sand, so so we just hid ourselves under flaps of tent, beddings, boxes or anything big enough to protect the head. "The storm lasted for about two and a half hours; everything was actually buried in sand, even our dinner. Then the wind suddenly changed from north to south—it was so strange to perceive a lull for a few moments, and then the wind came from the north and grew stronger every minute. "Well, we now had to face the second storm, and this time in utter darkness. I could not get any protection from my tent, as it was well under sand by this time, being only a forty pound one, so I crawled under the flap of the mess tent. This lasted till early morning.

The horrors of horrors, thirst was experienced later. "We had marched all night in the hot desert, and this time in utter darkness. I could not get any protection from my tent, as it was well under sand by this time, being only a forty pound one, so I crawled under the flap of the mess tent. This lasted till early morning.

"The officers' changes by this time had come up with the main body and we all scrambled into the saddles. We started our march and I thanked heaven that I was being carried. Oh, I felt sorry for the poor, unfortunate sepoy, and I could only encourage them as much as possible.

"After covering two miles matters became serious as men were falling from exhaustion and every one hundred yards we covered it looked blacker and blacker. The men who fell were picked up in ambulance carts. In a short time it was impossible to go further because none of the men could drag a leg forward.

"The order was given hurriedly to pitch our tents while the general's staff and cavalry went on to send water back. The sights I saw were awful.

"The British officers helped as much as they could until we were 'done' and then we resigned ourselves to wait patiently for the water. I thought I was to die. "At last I volunteered to take all the water bottles on mules and fetch water independently of the other lot. I felt desperate. This is how I nearly lost my life. We were six miles from the river, but they appeared like fifty. "How I got to the river I don't know. I just clung on to my saddle and balanced myself the best way I could, with bottles dangling all around the saddle and my neck, with six mules following me. When I got to the river the horse plunged in, and I rolled off into the water. The cold water revived me a little. The charger and I stood side by side—I was up to my waist in water—and sucked away until I thought I was going to burst but it was glorious. The water was very muddy, but what cared I? I then filled up all the bottles I had brought and another long drink and was off again to the camp. I got back just before the other water arrived, and I think saved a lot of our men."

FRANK DANIELS SCORED HIT AT "PORTSMOUTH"

"CROOKY" PLEASED LARGE ATTENDANCE AT BIG PLAY HOUSE LAST EVENING

Frank Daniels, the infatigable musical comedy comedian, who has made thousands laugh by the comedy he has sent over the footlights made good last night in his appearance in motion pictures at the Portsmouth Theatre.

Mr. Daniels was seen on the V-L-S-E program in "Crooky," a live reel Vitaphone Blue Ribbon picture play, and he certainly gave an upward twist to the downward wrinkles at the corners of the mouth if you saw him or there was something seriously the matter with you.

In this big silent comedy, Mr. Daniels gives abundant proof that he knows as well how to entertain without his voice as he does with it. As a matter of fact, his droll expressions and humorous antics are more eloquent than any words of humor he ever uttered on the speaking stage.

In the little role as convict 999, alias "Crooky," Mr. Daniels makes a sensational, unique and painful escape from prison. The rough treatment he receives in the barrel which he uses as a vehicle for his escape would, under ordinary circumstances, be a very serious matter, but as performed by Mr. Daniels, it is excruciatingly funny.

After his escape, Mr. Daniels gets in to all sorts of grotesque difficulties that in their sequence keep the spectators in a state of continuous hilarity. "Crooky" is one of the best comedy motion pictures that Portsmouth Theatre patrons have had the opportunity of enjoying.

LOCOMOTIVE OFF THE RAILS

STRICT ORDERS TO SUBMARINES

GERMAN COMMANDERS DIRECTED TO SPARE LINERS ABOUT WHICH THEY ARE DOUBTFUL

Berlin, via London, Sept. 22.—Commanders of German submarines have been given strict orders. It has been learned authoritatively, that in case of doubt as to the intentions of liners, they are to take the safe course and permit the ship to escape rather than run the slightest risk of error. This order supplements the instructions communicated to the Washington Government by Ambassador von Bernstorff on Sept. 1. There is reason to believe the new regulation already is known in Washington, as it probably was embodied in the message of instructions sent the German ambassador a few days ago. It is understood here that the United States already has been informed that various officers of the submarine which sank the Arabic agreed from observations taken while the submarine was on the surface and through the periscope while it was submerged that the Arabic was planning an attack. Nevertheless, officials concerned may be found willing to admit that the Arabic in reality was acting innocently in spite of the suspicion attaching to her behavior and changes of course. There is reason to believe the settlement of the question of responsibility may be reached along these lines.

Manager Walker has secured a good bill which he thinks will please the public. We don't need to mention Huggins and Stauber, they are well known in Portsmouth. Flynn is the man that fought Stauber here last winter, who had the wonderful shift. Buck Dillings is the man that fought Al Nelson here last winter. We are sure this card will give the public a run for their money.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the Rochester Fair is not getting the same number of people from this city as in years past.

That the Veteran Firemen will take two handbills to Amesbury on Saturday.

That between them both they ought to capture one of the prizes.

That the clerical force at the Consolidation Coal Company say they will show the sports something in bowling the coming winter.

That the Carletons (Glee Club) are humming a few new ones that they will sing at Newburyport.

That 1400 men are now employed at the navy yard.

That the police say a new and proper cell room should be arranged for women at the police station.

That railroad detectives are still busy chasing the hobo element from trains on the Boston and Maine.

That the railroad will never be able to check the hoboes from riding on either freight or passenger trains with four times the number of detectives.

That State Inspector Harrington of the State Board of Health orders that all school children at Dover must be vaccinated.

That the order in general will apply throughout the state.

That the law applies to all institutions of learning whether they come under the school support of the city or are maintained by other organizations and each child must be vaccinated or have an excuse from a reputable physician stating the reasons for not complying with the law, or remain away from school altogether.

STARTED SOMETHING

The meeting of the Republicans at Kittery Point when Horace Mitchell announced his candidacy for congress seems to have awakened considerable activity in political circles. Republican candidates for sheriff, county attorney and other county officers are making active canvasses.—Biddeford Journal.

APPOINTED FEDERAL WARDEN

Major Channey H. Hoyt has been appointed federal warden by the Department of Agriculture for the State of New Hampshire. Major Hoyt's new duties will be to enforce the federal migratory bird law in the state, of which there is said to be many violators in years past.

Germany has given her submarine commanders strict orders to play the "safety first" game. How long will it last?

SAYS HE WAS TOUCHED FOR $100

Kennebunk Man Reports Case to the Police Today.

A man by the name of Davis, who had been from Kennebunk, reported to the police this forenoon that he had been touched for $100. Davis was formerly in business here and came back to see how the old town looked since he left it. He met a few of his acquaintances and during the day they attempted to add a little red line to the bang. This morning he was broke and said that he did not have a nickel of the spending money left. His recollection was not exactly clear as to the details of interest visited, and this made it a blind job for the police. Anyhow Officer Shannon was detailed on the case and took Davis in and about the city in hope of solving the mystery. At noon it looked as if Davis would return to York county without any part of the amount which he had in his jeans on Wednesday when he left home.

ENGINE ON GROUND.

Freight Blocks Traffic on the Main Line at Jewett.

The Boston and Maine wrecking crew of this city were called to Jewett Station on the Portland division on Wednesday afternoon where a large locomotive and some freight cars were on the ground as the result of speeding rails. Both main line tracks were blocked for a while and the express due here for Boston shortly after 3 o'clock was delayed.

GOING TO CALIFORNIA

Frank Daniels in "Crooky" will be at the Portsmouth Theatre again this afternoon and evening. The picture is well worth a visit.

MARRIED IN VANCOUVER

Miss Effie Wright of This City Becomes the Bride of William Laird.

Announcement has been received here of the marriage in Vancouver of Miss Effie B. Wright of this city, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wright of Elwyn Avenue and William Laird of Vancouver. The bride is a graduate of Portsmouth High School and of Miss B. business college. She is a member of the Middle Street Baptist Church and has been active in the work of the society. She is also a member of Strawberry Bank Grange and was a guardian of the Peabody Camp Five girls. She held the position of stenographer in the law office of Kelley and Hatch for the past seven years, having been granted an extended leave of absence early in the summer to make the western trip which culminated in the romance. The groom holds a responsible position under the Canadian government and is stationed at Glacier, B. C., being one of the inspectors of the mammoth tunnel, being constructed there.

LOCAL DASHES

Fish of all kinds at Clark's Branch, Tel. 133.

Overcoats and outer garments were not at all uncomfortable on Wednesday evening.

Quite a change in the weather but we should remember we are living in New England and should be prepared for whatever is in store for us.

Sam Kneeland had the band working hard at a rehearsal last night.

It would not be surprising if Portsmouth furnished another important piece of news in a short time.

Uster Pocket Knives.

Wiss Shears and Scissors.

At the Matthews Hardware Store.

A week ago last evening we were sweltering in the city and last night many of the residents were thinking of the winter's coal supply. Some climate New England.

All loyal citizens should attend the meeting at the probate court room this evening for the purpose of organizing a branch of the National Defense League.

Lobsters and fish of all kinds caught by our own boats, fresh every day. B. Jameson and Sons. Tel. 245.

The opening game of the high school football season will be played on Saturday afternoon.

Police Commissioner M. J. Griffin is spoken of as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

The afternoon prices at the Portsmouth and the Colonial Theatres is five cents. Both theatres are giving the most in the amusement line at a small cost to the patron.

Glass and Putty

At the Matthews Hardware Store.

W. H. Horn, the locksmith, saw filer and cutlery grinder has moved to the new store on Penhallow street, next to the dye house.

All of the arrangements have been made for the trip of the Franklin Pierce Veteran Firemen's Association to the Amesbury muster next Saturday with the handbills Burke and T. W. Priest. Drake her down boys, broke her down!

The Colonial Theatre will open its doors at 1:45 for the matinee performance and at 6:30 in the evening.

It is announced that the new policy of the management of the Portsmouth Theatre is to present the greatest photo-plays obtainable.

It may be some days and it may be never, that Portsmouth will learn the real reason of the mysterious visit paid to the paper mill yesterday.

The number that has attended the Rochester Fair from this city the past two days has been unusually small. It was stated at the railroad station this morning that less than one hundred persons availed themselves of the special train.

COLONIAL THEATRE

FACTS ABOUT WOMAN SUFFRAGE

In Maryland, the same legislature that refused to submit equal suffrage to the voters, lowered from twelve to ten the age at which children may work in the canneries. This action was taken over the protest of every woman in the state, and in the face of one of the most remarkable public meetings ever held in Baltimore. What about that "indirect influence"?
